

Five Shots From Automatic Shot Gun, Death to Dentist

Dr. E. J. McDaniel of Tazewell, Instantly Killed.

SHOT ON STREET

Three Shots, Any One Which Would Have Been Fatal, Enters
Body—Deceased Leaves Wife and Family.

Firing five shots from an automatic shot gun, an unknown assassin instantly killed Dr. E. J. McDaniel, Tazewell dentist, last night. The killing occurred shortly after the arrival of the night mail at the Tennessee town, and Dr. McDaniel was on his way to the postoffice, accompanied by his 11-year old son, Stanley. Driving up beside the doomed man, as he was at a point near the William Davis residence, the murderer fired five shots in quick succession, three of which took effect in the body; the stomach and lungs were pierced and the dentist fell to the walk, death occurring within a few moments.

For a time it was thought that the shots were fired by someone passing through Tazewell and a general alarm was sent out and all roads guarded. However, a little later it developed that the shots were fired by someone living in Tazewell who knew perfectly the movements of Dr. McDaniel who did not leave the town after the murder.

The only eye witnesses to the shooting is said to have been Mrs. Davis and her son, William Davis, who were a short distance from the automobile from which the murderer did the shooting. The car is described as a large one and with only one occupant. The driver of the death car paused for a moment, fired the fatal shots and then drove rapidly down the street and, it is said, turned and drove back into the town.

Tazewell is poorly lighted and at that hour in the evening it is difficult to distinguish features. The witnesses to the murder only caught a brief glimpse of the driver, who is described as a man about 30 years of age.

Little information could be extracted from Tazewell residents this morning. Mystery surrounded the whole affair and if the Tazewell population were doing any talking it was not being given public utterance. There seemed to be, however, a well grounded suspicion that the murder came from the hands of one who knew the ground perfectly and had timed his movements to be coincident with those of his victim. It is said that Dr. McDaniel had enemies and that there was a deep-seated underlying motive in the killing.

Conversation with the office of Sheriff Greer of Claiborne county this morning, brought out the facts substantially as related above. No arrests had been made at noon today. The attorney for the commonwealth, Jesse L. Rogers of Powell's Valley, had not been notified as far as information could be gleaned. The coroner, if one exists in the county, had not made an inquest, while the statement was made that such a formality would be indulged in.

The statement was made by a member of the McDaniel family, that the affair was "bad, very bad" and that funeral services would be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock before or after the inquest, was not stated.

Dr. McDaniel was about 35 years of age, well known and popular. He is survived by Mrs. McDaniel, formerly Miss Kate Rose of Tazewell, and three children, the eldest being 11 and the youngest 5. The deceased was reared in Powell's Valley in the neighborhood of Hope well, Tenn., a few miles south of Va. A brother, Tip McDaniel, is a well known resident of Bowling and another brother Milton, resides near Hopewell, his father also resides in that neighborhood.

STATE ISSUES CONFRONT THE VOTERS NOV. 4

Adjusted Compensation for Vets to be Voted On.

ELECT OFFICIALS

Bond Issue, Inheritance Tax
Parochial Schools, Poll Tax
Primary Election Law,
Up to State Voters.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21. (AP)—When the voters of the country go to the polls November 3, their principal duty from a national standpoint will be to register their choice for president and vice president. In many states they will be called upon to choose new state officials, but in nearly all they will be asked to express their approval or disapproval of proposed state constitutional amendments and a variety of other propositions referred to the people by the state legislatures.

Adjusted compensation or aid for veterans of the World War will be voted upon in several states and in some instances the veterans of the Spanish-American War and the Philippine Insurrection are included, while in one the question turns in the veterans of the Civil War.

Florida may become the haven of the wealthy if the voters of that state approve a proposed constitutional amendment which provides that the state shall levy no tax on inheritance or income. It would offer a little further encouragement to residence in that state by providing exemption from taxation to heads of families on household goods and personal effects up to $500.

North Carolina would be in a position to embark in the steamship business with a state-owned line if the voters approve a proposed bond issue of $8,500,000. Of the amount $7,000,000 would be available to establish steam terminals and the remainder to be used, if necessary, to establish the state-owned steamship line. Aid to World War veterans in establishing homes by loans of not more than $2,500 to each veteran would be available if another proposed bond issue of $2,000,000 is approved.

Compensation of aid to veterans would be provided by constitutional amendments or referendum questions in other states as follows: Alabama would exempt all former service men of the army, navy and marine corps from paying poll tax; Kansas would recognize the services of veterans in the Spanish-American War, Philippine Insurrection and China Relief Expedition with compensation at the rate of $1 a day for each day of service, the maximum to any veteran to be $600; Louisiana would increase pensions to Confederate veterans; Maryland and Montana would provide aid or adjusted compensation, the question in the latter state depending upon the compensation amendment carried; Oregon would extend the provisions of the soldier bonus amendment to female residents of the state who were engaged in the war department during the World War, and to veterans of the Spanish-American War, Colorado, adjusted compensation for veterans of the World War, Spanish-American War, Philippine Insurrection and the Civil War; Texas would extend the privilege of pensions to all Confederate veterans and widows of Confederate veterans up to January 1, 1910. The present limitation of residence is January 1, 1900.

South Carolina and Georgia apparently are getting too much state legislation, and in both the voters are asked to approve constitutional amendments providing for biennial sessions of the legislatures instead of the annual sessions as at present.

The question of legislating out of existence all private and parochial schools will come before the voters of Michigan and Washington. In the former it is proposed as a constitutional amendment, while in Washington it is put before the people as an initiative measure and proposes of close all private schools to children under 16 years of age. In that state it would affect schools conducted by the Roman Catholics, Lutherans, Episcopalians and Seventh Day Adventists, as well as numerous military academies for private schools for girls.

A similar law passed in Oregon was declared unconstitutional by the federal district court of appeals. The case then was taken to the Supreme Court of the United States, which is expected finally to determine the question of constitutionality at the term which was (Continued on page four)

READY FOR LIFE BEHIND PRISON WALLS

RICHARD A. LOEB, NO. 9305

NATHAN F. LEOPOLD, JR., NO. 9306

Oh, what a difference haircuts and clothes make! Old friends in Chicago would not know Richard A. Loeb and Nathan F. Leopold at first glance. The prison barber at Joliet (Ill.) penitentiary, you know doesn't think much of pompadours and sideburns. A haircut like this is much better, he insists. And the penitentiary tailor doesn't go in for checkered clothes. He prefers loose-fitting suits of gray denim and heavy-striped, baggy at the neck shirts. He doesn't go in for snappy ties, either. Anyway, girls, these are the first pictures of "Babe" and "Dickie"—oh, pardon us, warden, we forgot they are numbers 9305 and 9306 now—to come out of Joliet since they began their life sentences for the murder of little Bobby Franks.

Speeches in Kentucky Towns.

Bowling Green, Ky., Oct. 21.—John W. Davis, candidate for president on the democratic ticket, opened his speaking campaign in Kentucky with brief addresses here today and at Franklin. Speaking from the rear platform of his private car, the democratic candidate appeared for national and state candidates with a specific mention of Senator A. C. Stanley and Representative R. V. Thomas, in which he asked that they be sent to Washington with a democratic president.

Mr. Davis expressed a belief that this was a democratic year and that all that democracy needed was the will and the courage to take the victory now within its grasp. He asserted that the people wanted honest government not only from minor officials but also from great officials. He said that the democratic party failed in time of need and reiterated his promise for "Common Justice, common and courage."

MURDERERS MUST NEVER BE FREED, SAYS FRANKS

CHICAGO, Oct. 21. (AP)—Plans for a trust fund that may be used after his death to oppose any effort to free Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, were announced today by Jacob Franks, father of the boy they killed. "The murderers must never get freedom," he declared. "A lenient governor, a shrewd lawyer, an indifferent people and their liberation would be the matter of only a short time, unless provisions were made to combat any effort to them out of Joliet."

"I don't know how long I shall live. During my life I will fight any move to defeat justice. After my death the trust fund will be available."

Many Attend the Baptist Revival

Dr. T. C. Crum, evangelist, addressed an unusually large crowd for an opening service at the First Baptist Church, Monday evening. His subject was "The Call of the Hour." It was taken from the 17th chapter of John's Gospel, "I am the light of the world." In his address he made reference to the great hours when he had "Gave me Scotland and I did not continue with Patrick Henry's famous sentiment "Give me liberty or give me death." John Perkins, famous welcome to France was called, "In the future we are here, the greatest hour of all in his opinion was when Christ uttered, "The hour is come. It is fulfilled." Mr. Crum is thoroughly taken up with his work. "I would rather be a saint winner than to occupy the position now held by Ramsey Mac Donald, who rules the destiny of an empire which the sun never sets on." Mr. Crum is reported to have said. The audience was attentive to the 17th chapter of the minister, manifesting an unusual interest in his message. Beginning tonight there is going to be a story hour for the primary children and the juniors. The adults will meet for prayers. Both the story hour and the prayer meeting will take place at 7:15.

The directors would like to have an expression from you: Do you want this, and if you do, will you enter and play?

CRY OF "FIRE" CAUSES CRUSH IN THEATRE

Crowd Stampedes For Doors In Craze of the Moment.

WOMAN IS KILLED

Town Is Sorrowful this Morning
When it is Learned that the Tragedy Could Have Been Averted.

NEWCASTLE, Pa., Oct. 21. (AP)—A terrifying cry of "fire" at Newcastle Theatre last night took toll of one life. Thirty-five or more persons were injured following a stampede for the exits which followed the fire alarm. Sorrow and regret enveloped the town today when it became known. The fire which occurred in the outburst was relatively small and confined to a projection room, and at no time endangered the spectators.

Emma Massien was crushed to death and will be buried tomorrow. Physicians expressed doubt as to whether two other girls, knocked unconscious, were internally injured and a woman whose skull was crushed would survive. The wild excitement of the panic resulted in a trampled mass of humanity tea feet deep, while only a small number thought to make use of a second exit on the crowded stairway.

Soviet Russia Not A Worker's Paradise

LONDON, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Soviet Russia is becoming a little less each year, it is said, the paradise for the workingman that it started out to be. This is particularly so in the matter of working days, as shown by figures published by the Russian trade delegation.

The workers of Russia now labor 220 days out of the year while in 1921 they were compelled to work only 221 to be law abiding citizens. Last year the holidays recognized by the government and Sunday gave the workers 165 days of leisure, which is 39 less than they had in 1921.

In 1922 the working hours of each man were 1,918, an average of less than eight hours a working day. Under the czar the working hours averaged about 3,000 a year.

DAWES PLAN SAFE IN NEW REICHSTAG

Has Become the Outstanding Issue
To Insure the Construction of a Coalition Government.

BERLIN, Oct. 21. The election was officially set today for December 7th. The chancellor is convinced that although the political complexion of the new Reichstag is wholly conjectural, that the election will return sufficient members for the Dawes plan which has become the outstanding issue to insure the construction of a workable coalition government.

LEXINGTON, Oct. 16.—The dedication of the heathen was endorsed tonight at the opening session of the annual convention of the Baptist Women's Missionary Union.

Dr. C. M. Thompson, secretary of the state board of missions in Kentucky, spoke for greater understanding of the aims of the union. He urged the women to use their imaginations in asking themselves whether the spreading of the Gospel to benighted souls of the Far East and equatorial lands is worth while.

Dr. B. G. Gray, of Atlanta, secretary of the mission board of the southern convention, detailed what he reported to be a hard earned record of women's missionary work the last year, indicative, he said, of lasting results in the future.

BANKERS AND FARMERS

LOUISVILLE, Oct. 20. (AP.)—The agriculture committee of the Kentucky Bankers' Association that helped to organize the Kentucky Live Stock Improvement Association, urges every bank in the association to take out a membership.

F. C. Dotsey, chairman of the committee, declared today.

"Our experience proves to us that the farmer is the logical man to talk better live stock, better farming, better dairying, better soil or diversification to the farmer," he said.

"The banker is perhaps the only man who will be listened to. The banker is vitally interested in the farmer's welfare. When the farmer prospers, the banker prospers. And the farmer is oftentimes dependent on the banker for both financial assistance and advice."

Mrs. Sheriff

Sixteen years of school teaching prepared Mrs. Melissa Akers for the life of a sheriff in Shannon county. Mo. She shirks none of the duties of her office, arresting law violators of all sorts, even going into the hills to raid moonshine stills.

She is a woman of many talents, and her home is a place of interest to all who visit it.

D. A. R. Will Record Local History

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 21.—(AP.)—The Kentucky division, daughters of the American Revolution, is engaged in recording for posterity all local history, unwritten and unsung.

Mrs. Minnie E. Hogan, chairman of the committee in charge of the work, today suggested the recording of neighborhood traditions.

"Just because so much of our local history is unwritten and unsung there are very few sections of the country in which there is pride in neighborhood history and traditions," she said. "Place together the fascinating old bits of your neighborhood and your own family history, as it intertwines with them."

"Make it a point of pleasant duty to be the scribe who commits them to paper in permanent form. You will be surprised to find what delightful and engrossing pastime it will become."

"One of the interesting by products of the world war is that our sons returning from overseas duty have brought home with them an increased interest in their own families, because of the emphasis which everywhere in Europe is put upon the so-called 'family papers' and family history and the historical aspect of each locality."

Text Books Higher Commission Finds

FRANKFORT, Ky., Oct. 21.—(AP.)—Only the best interests of the children of Kentucky, "as well as the highest service to the schools," appeared to be uppermost in the mind of every member of the state text book commission, according to statement of McHenry Rhoads, secretary, and superintendent of public instruction, discussing work of the commission in selecting text books.

In a "letter of transmittal" made public today, he said:

"It is true that practically all the books offered for adoption or re-adoption were at higher prices. The commission realized the impossibility of securing good books at the prices prevailing five years ago; the members gave serious attention to this phase of their task, and earnestly desired to secure the best books at the lowest prices for the use of the children of the state."

"At the conclusion of their labors, they felt that this laudable desire had been achieved. The commission was fortunate in being able to retain many of the high school books now in use, but these were at higher prices owing to demands of business conditions then existing."

Scotland Farm Has Speedy Race Horses

FRANKFORT, Ky., Oct. 21.—(AP.)—With the molting blue grass pastures of Scotland Farm in the heart of Franklin county, daily producing legs and lungs in young race horses, horseowners who recently have been the guest of the owner, Col. Swigert Taylor, brother of Admiral Edmund Watson Taylor, predict next year will witness the colors of Scotland farm up and winning on the Kentucky turf.

The farm is a nursery for the thoroughbred horse. Col. Taylor is fast assembling a band of broodmares, many of which came with foals at heel.

He has not yet decided to purchase a stallion, being content to patronize the sires of his neighbors, former Senator Johnson N. Camden, president of the Kentucky Jockey Club, John H. Morris, of the Bosque Bonita stud, and others.

Col. Taylor has won by Master Robert, Light Brigade, Golden Broom, On Watch, the best son of the mighty Colin, and others. He has yearlings by Master Robert, sire of Altawood, and mares in foal to him and to Robert, Sweep, and other good horses.

Workmen everywhere compare a daily scene of activity. New barns and paddocks are appearing over night.

Game Conservation Will Be Considered

FRANKFORT, Ky., Oct. 21.—(AP.)—Union in Kentucky, a convention of sportsmen will be held in the chambers of the general assembly here next February, George Waggoner, chairman of the State Game and Fish Commission, announced today.

He called the meeting to consider game and fish conservation and protection.

Members of the Isaac Walton League, a national organization of sportsmen, were invited.

Fights for Gardner's Liberty

Mrs. Dolly Gardner (above), wife of Roy Gardner, the country's "shippest bandit," has appealed to officials in Washington to permit her husband to undergo an operation to "cure his criminal tendencies." She says X-ray pictures have shown a bone is pressing on his brain. The Department of Justice has asked a board of army surgeons to make a thorough examination of Gardner, now in Leavenworth penitentiary.

African Athlete Aims to Lead Race

PARIS, Oct. 21.—(AP.)—To hold the undisputed broad jump championship of the African race is the life's ambition of Sylvio L. Cator of Port-au-Prince, Haiti, who recently shattered the French record with a leap of 7 meters and 20 centimetres, or practically 21 feet.

For this purpose Cator has placed himself under the direction of Technical Quarters of the Racing Club of France with the avowed intention of bettering the marks of De Hart Hubbard and Ned Goudrie, the two American negroes who, until Bob Legendre's tremendous jump of 25 feet 6 inches during the Olympic games, held most of the leading honors.

Cator came to France last June to represent Haiti in the Olympic Games but, like "Duke" Hyland of California, the American Olympic Rugby player, he decided to enter school in France and incidentally to get the benefit of French training methods to improve his athletic performances as well as his studies.

His best jump during the Olympic competition was seven metres (23 feet), quillars says the Haitian is improving every day, and he has hopes that before spring he will negotiate seven metres fifty regularly.

Election Night in Times Square New York City

—by popular choice

WHETHER it's the vital business of electing a president, or the casual one of selecting a cigarette, men naturally place their endorsement where they believe it is most deserved.

Everywhere men are changing from other cigarettes to Chesterfield—convinced by taste of finer quality. Taste is the real issue—and it certainly looks like a landslide for Chesterfield.

Such popularity must be deserved.
